Wild Flowers = Jane Lundin

Wednesday June 28th 4pm Harker Center

If you've done any hiking in Elkhorn or the surrounding area, you know the Idaho wildflowers are beautiful and abundant. We are so excited to have wildflower expert Jane Lundin share her love of wildflowers. Lundin is a familiar name to wildflower lovers. She coauthored Idaho Mountain Wildflowers – A Photographic Compendium, with Scott Earle. She has botanized trails in Washington and Idaho for many years. With degrees from Stanford and University of Washington, she ran a lab at Georgetown Medical School, later worked as a computer teacher and a school librarian. She lives in Seattle and Ketchum with her husband, John Lundin

Lawyer, Historian, Author

Wednesday August 23rd 4pm Harker Center

This event is free. Donations to the Center for Regional History at The Community Library in Ketchum are appreciated.

John considers himself to be “on sabbatical” from the law as he pursues his interests in history and writing, splitting his time between Seattle and Sun Valley. In 2020, John published two companion books that give an unparalleled insight into the history of the Wood River Valley and the Sun Valley resort: Sun Valley, Ketchum and the Wood River Valley, and Skiing Sun Valley: a History from Union Pacific to the Holdings. John is donating his author’s profits from both books to the Center for Regional History. at The Community Library in Ketchum.
